BOOK SIGNING WITH AUTHOR DAVID LADENSOHN
IN CONVERSATION WITH PROFESSOR ELIZABETH MURPHY ON HIS NEW BOOK, FLY-FISHING WITH LEONARDO DA VINCI

Ladensohn's research on Leonardo led him to native rivers in Italy to scholars at Oxford and the inside of Windsor Castle, where he studied the finest of Leonardo's original water drawings. The illustrations, which remain little known even today, are reproduced here in color, many for the first time. Fly-Fishing with Leonardo da Vinci is meant to inform and entertain anyone interested in the artist or fly-fishing and their unlikely intersection.

"Fly-Fishing with Leonardo da Vinci is a delight!
Ladensohn combines a naturalist's eye with an angler's treasure trove of aphorisms and maxims that are as much about life as they are about art or sport.

— Abraham Verghese, author of The Covenant of Water
